

Watching the Wheat

(Bugeilio'r Gwenith Gwyn)

English words by Patrick Rooke

Welsh folksong
arr. Gwyn Arch

Andante (♩ = c.84)

Tenor 1 p
Gen - tle breeze, ca - ress the wheat, the hour is ripe for tel - ling of

Tenor 2 p
Gen - tle breeze, ca - ress the wheat, the hour is ripe for tel - ling of

Baritone p
Gen - tle breeze, ca - ress the wheat, the hour is ripe for tel - ling of

Bass

Piano (for rehearsal only)

5 poco cresc.
lov - ers who walked hand in hand and marked the grain a - swel - ling. What a time was

poco cresc.
lov - ers who walked hand in hand when grain was swel - ling. What a time was

poco cresc.
lov - ers who walked hand in hand when grain was swel - ling. What a time was

poco cresc.
What a time was

10

that to live, with - out a care or sor - row, when yes - ter - day was but a dream and that to live, with - out a care or sor - row, when yes - ter - day was but a dream and

that to live, with - out a care or sor - row, when yes - ter - day was but a dream and that _____ with - out a sor - row, when yes - ter - day was but a dream and 15

there was no to - mor - row. p Mm

no to - mor - row. p Mm

no to - mor - row. p Mm

no to - mor - row. Solo (opt.) mp Vowed his love would nev - er die, and fer - vent - ly he

20

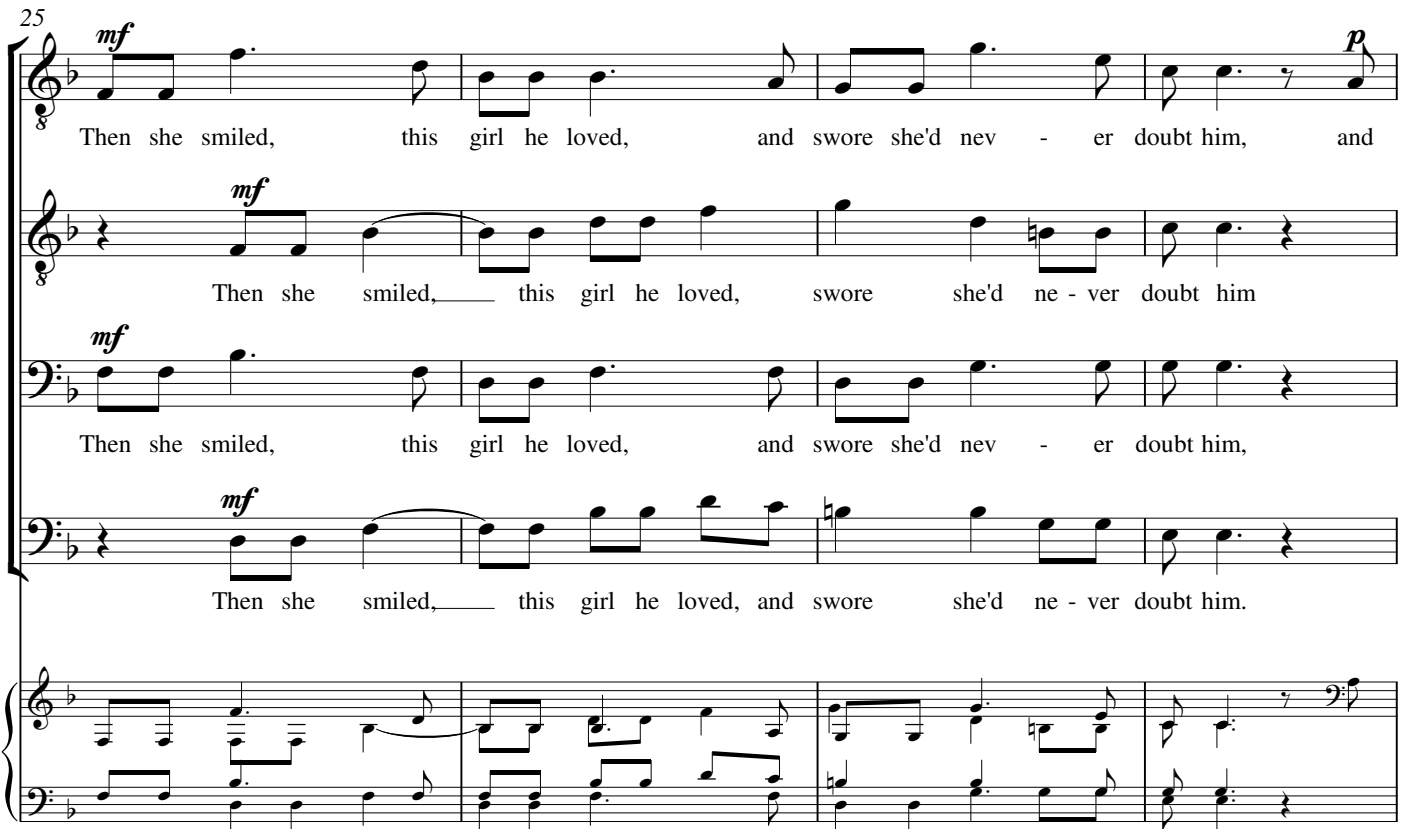

Mm

Mm

Mm

meant it. Said he'd ad - ore her ev - er - more and noth - ing would pre - vent it.

25

mf

p

Then she smiled, this girl he loved, and swore she'd nev - er doubt him, and

mf

Then she smiled, — this girl he loved, swore she'd ne - ver doubt him

mf

Then she smiled, this girl he loved, and swore she'd nev - er doubt him,

mf

Then she smiled, — this girl he loved, and swore she'd ne - ver doubt him.